March 2009 Newsletter

While the rest of you have been cuddling up to a fire this winter, we at Picture Perfect Landscaping have been busy researching and ordering the area's most unique, exciting, and unusual plant combinations. You will be thrilled with these combinations of trees, shrubs, and perennials. We have come up with a recipe of combining plants that goes like this:

Include in a planting scheme:

- 1) Plants that introduce a strong vertical emphasis or "an excited utterance". We call this exclamation.
- 2) Plants that have exaggeratedly course textures or "boldness of leaf". We call this accentuation.
- 3) Unexpected use of color, line, form and texture. This we call punctuation.
- 4) Repetition of color, line, form, and texture. We call this repetition.

When these concepts are used together in an artistic manner, the results are truly stunning! We have developed many combinations such as below.

This may be the perfect year for you to remodel those tired looking shrub beds. We offer services from container plantings to complete garden makeovers. Perhaps there is no better way to add that extra sparkle to your landscape than by the artistic and careful application of exclamation, accentuation, punctuation and repetition.
